Re: Eric Zhang:

To whom it may concern,

I am writing to support Eric Zhang's application for an AGDA Design Award 2025. Specifically, I was fortunate to evaluate his design assessment work for a unit in the Master of Creative Industries at Macquarie University. As the member of team who developed the work A Super Date with Mr. Broom a group project for the Performance Practices course at Macquarie University, his work on the design and visual direction was exemplary.

The performance used a play-within-a-play format, revealing behind-the-scenes scenarios while a crew worked on a film. It was Mr Zhang's seamless merging of design elements that was central to the success of this work. To create an immersive experience for the audience he designed a series of props and media elements that evoked the ambiance of a film studio. These included bespoke crew pass cards, invitations, filming notice boards, a clapperboard, and additional studio-inspired props. All visual components were unified through a cohesive design language, enhancing the sense of authenticity and engagement.

I would not hesitate to recommend his work for this award.
